

Project Profile

Islington Micro-Flat, London

The Islington micro-flat project sought to turn a tired single storey studio flat within a converted Victorian property into a highly flexible and comfortable one bedroom flat for a couple on a tight budget.

Minimising structural alterations, the kitchen was relocated to an open plan living area, and the bathroom reconfigured to create a good sized bedroom. Flexibility was created through creative bespoke joinery solutions. The coffee table converts to a large dining table, and the dining chairs stored away within the kitchen cabinetry. Bespoke built in storage solutions (inside the bed, above the bathroom) and an all white interior helped to maintain a spacious minimalist interior. The entire flat was sound-proofed to modern standards.